JUSTICE HARLAN'S OPINION.

Sustaining the Kuilroad Makes th Commission Useless. In dissenting from the opinion of the associate justices of the Supreme Court in the appeal of the Interstate Commerce Compulsaion against the Alabama Midland Rahway Company et al., Justice Harlan

I dissent from the opinion and judgment in this case. Taken in connection with other decisions defining the powers of the fat state Commerce Commission the present decision. It seems to me, goes far to make that commission a useless body for all practical purposess and to defeat many of the important objects designed to be accomplished by the various enactments of Congress relating to interstate commerce. The commission was established to protect the public against the improper practices of transportation companies engaged in commerce among the several States. It has been shorn by indicial interpretation, of authority to do anything of an effective character. It is denied many of the pawers which in my indigment, were intended to be conferred upon R. Besides the acts of Congress are now so construed as to place commence at the mercy of competing califoral companies engaged in such commistice. The judgment in this case, if I do not missapprehent its scope and effective proceeds upon the ground that railroad companies when connections for interstate business. I dissent from the opinion and judgment I do not misapprehend its scope and effect, proceeds upon the ground that tailroad companies when competitors for interstate business at certain points may, in order to score traffic for and at those points, etablish rates that will emble them to accomplish that result although such rates may discriminate hamber intermediate points. Under such an interpretation of the statutes in question, they may well be regarded as recognising the authority of competing railroad companies engaged in interstate commerce—when their interests will be subserved thereby—to build up favored centers of population at the expense of cal centers of population at the expense of the business of the country at large. I cannot believe that Congress intended any such result, nor do I think that its enact-ments, properly interpreted, would lead to seed a feesalt.
